REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. This is an Examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. The closest prior art Fritsh Bernhard U.S. Pat. No. 6,247,130 discloses a system/method that permits the purchase of audio music files over the internet.

IBM Technical Disclosure Bulletin discloses a proposal for an audio server system which allows the distribution of music or other audible information to a token ring.

JP410290441A Aoe, Yasumasa discloses a music program distribution method and receiving/reproducing device for digital multichannel system.

However, neither Fritsh nor IBM Technical disclosure Bulletin and Aoe singularly or in combination fails to anticipate or render obvious the recited feature:

As per claims 105-108 "an anti-piracy module to embed an ID tag in decoded music selections, an output device for supplying the decoded music selections to the at least one customer household from a decoder, a central controller system having a database for storing therein information corresponding to the at least one customer household and having a key unique to the music selections, a communications link for placement between the at least one customer household and the central controller system for verifying to the controller system when a preselected music selection has been made available for playback, and a billing system associated with the central controller system to bill the at least one customer household for a music selection that has been made available for playback".
